Elfin Friendship

I am a creature with two sides
one that loves and one that fights.
Though mere mortals only see another side they think is me.

The loving side lies within my heart
and gracing it, is very hard.
Reserved for only the closest friends
it lifts my spirits over mortal ends.

Embedded within is the darker side
to rather protect, than fear and hide.
It gives me fangs and claws to fight
to overcome the mortal might.

For my loved ones I can become a ruthless beast

which dwells on pain and on blood it feasts.

I know some think there is no need to fear

but those for sure I will rip and tear.

So listen red fiend and listen well

step back from the elfin path or I might send you to hell.

Don't touch what is not yours to touch

because I will surely not step back and watch.

I treasure my friends above all

my fighting stance will break a wall.

This is a warning you should know

I never break a friendships vow.

The elfin friend who has my vows

knows to the best when my beast shows.

I know the elf don't need my might because on her own the elf can fight.

This is just to show I care

and some of the hurt and pain I bear.

There is nothing to fear

for I always will be here.

Seid bitte gnädig mit mir, dass ist mein allererster Poem. Inspiriert wurde ich durch einige aktuelle Ereignisse in meinem Umfeld.

Ich hab dieses Gedicht auch mit einem
LineArt Bild verknüpft das man unter den
FanArt's finden kann.
